Tools You'll Need To Work From Home Successfully

Working from home offers many advantages, from the flexibility of setting your own schedule to saving time and gas money by virtually eliminating your daily commute. However, being successful in a home office requires creating an office space that promotes efficiency in a non-traditional work environment. You'll need to outfit your home office with the proper tools to get the job done as efficiently as possible.

Home Office Space: Whether it's a spare room above the garage or a little nook right off the kitchen, you'll need a space where you'll work -- and only work there. An office space will get you into the mindset that you're officially on the clock.

Internet Access: High speed Internet is a must if you plan to run a successful online home-based business, reliable high-speed Internet goes a long way.

Desktop Computer, Laptop, Tablet, Mouse, Smart Phone

Your computer, like the rest of your office equipment -- should be in fairly good condition.

Desktop Computer: A personal computer designed for regular use at a single location on or near a desk or table due to its size and power requirements.

Laptop: A laptop computer, sometimes called a notebook computer, generally smaller than a briefcase that can easily be transported and conveniently used in temporary spaces such as on airplanes, in libraries, temporary offices, and at meetings.

Tablet: A tablet is a wireless touch screen personal computer (PC) that is smaller than a notebook but larger than a smartphone.

Mouse: A mouse is a handheld pointing device used to position a cursor on a computer screen. This allows the user to select items stored on a computer and, subsequently, perform actions on those items.

Smart Phone: A smartphone is probably the number one work-from-home tool of all time. A smartphone is a handheld personal computer with a mobile operating system and an integrated mobile broadband cellular network connection for voice, SMS, and Internet data communication; most if not all smartphones also support Wi-Fi.
